Chips

How glum and gloomy everyone looks. The usual jovial air of the student body has given way to one of awful expectancy. Ordinarily fun-loving professors are beginning to take on an appearance of stolidity, of determination. Such questions as the following may be heard: "What did he ask you when you took his course? Does he give tough ones? Do you think he will flunk me?"

Yes, the school year is coming to a close. In spite of the fact that our brows are fevered and worried, our finger nails gone, and the hot blood pounding our temples—we think it was a pretty good year. But next year, we are going to study all the time so we won't have to kill ourselves during finals. (On rereading that last statement we think it sounds slightly familiar—what do you think?)

Once before we called the swell lost and found department to your attention. Business now is wonderful. They have everything your heart could desire. If some of our new brides lack finances for a trousseau let them go to the lost and found or come and grab department. Bed room slippers, underwear, shoes—It is a well-known fact that our students sleep in class, but must they be so obvious as to leave their slippers—and can you imagine leaving one's unmentionables and stockings in class. It has always been our ambition to get in a class of this type, but fate is agin us.

We think that more co-eds should take Physics. Now that the subject of light has been reached there have been some excellent dark room experiments. We wonder if, during the photometry experiments, there were any good exposures or even double exposures—and were there any negatives?

This deserves to be all by itself. Maude Hudson was editor of The Petticoat. You've got to git up early to fool Dickie. Sis on you for ten minutes, Maude.

Now that the Troubadours are all reorganized and all set to give us an elegant show next year, how about some support? No matter how well they have been organized, nor how determined, they can't put on a good show without support. There are plenty of collegians, male, female and otherwise, who would make swell actors. They are calling for volunteers, so let's go.

It won't be long now before you seniors will hear the same old speeches, i. e.—now you are going out to fight in the battle of life (if you marry), the great game of life is about to begin, play the game fair, life is what you make it—all these remarks are old stuff and yet are more or less true. We won't make any speeches (this is a promise), but just the same, we offer you congratulations.

Optimism reigns supreme. A new club has been organized, called the Co-eds Campus Club. They say that they are going to have their quarters in the Student Union Building. We wonder—

Panhel has some more new rules to be broken. More fun for the girls. Rushing rules limit the expenditure to 150 bucks. If some of our sororities spent 150 to get what some of them have secured, oh what a swindle. The action during rushing will be as follows: each sorority will go around and make faces at every other sorority and the theme song will be as usual, "Somebody stole our gal."

Tear drops and kisses. We of The Hatchet are sorry to state that one of our perfectly swelegant associate editors is retiring. None other than Wee Willy Dismer. It has been rumored that William and one of our well-known co-eds are about to plunge off the dock into the sea of matrimony. Forthwith we have mailed Bill a copy of What Every Young Boy Should Know.

It is whispered about the campus that the Chi O's had a hot time the other night. Guess who was discovered in their rooms—none other than "Douglas," the phantom lover.

All good things must come to an end, even Dick Rollo. Try to bear up under the strain. This dear little columnist has been searching feverishly through the list of graduates to find his name. Egad, it is not there. Even Silo Vance cannot find it. Perhaps Dickie is not going to graduate. In that case or any case, we will be back next year selling the same bananas at the same old stand.

—DICK ROLLO.

New Panhellenic Rushing Rules Adopted For Next Year; Bar Closed Dates

Panhellenic Association has recently adopted rules for 1931 rushing. Next fall there will be one week of rushing, either the third or fourth week of school. There will be no closed dates as in the past. All invitations are to be on regular individual blanks provided by Panhel, which can be mailed no sooner than 56 hours before the party. Replies are to be made personally to Mrs. Barrows' office.

Perhaps the most startling regulation is that there must be no more slumber parties, an arrangement which will probably be appreciated by all persons concerned, including sorority women, freshmen, and parents of the freshmen. Hereafter all parties must be over by 12 o'clock. All final parties will be held at the same time. There will be the usual financial limit of $150 for each sorority.

E. P. Henderson Describes New Mineral, "Fervanite"

Professor E. P. Henderson of the geology department, has in the process of publication an announcement of the discovery of another new mineral. This makes the second he has described in the past few months.

Analyses show the mineral to be a hydrous ferric vanadate which has been named "fervanite" from its metallic constituents. It was obtained from the carnotite region of southwestern Colorado and southeastern Utah.

Phi Delta Does Bit For Fund

Another organization on the campus does its bit for the Student Union Building Fund. Phi Delta sorority contributed $25 to the committee soliciting donations to that fund.

DAN BEATTIE IS DIRECTING HEAD OF TROUBADOURS

Reorganization of Entire Staff Followed Election of Board Members

With the election of Dan Beattie as managing director of Troubadours, the election of next year's board, and provision made for the further centralization and strengthening of the organization, the Troubadours are already making ambitious plans for the biggest and best show George Washington University has yet seen. By September, the Troubadours will have the book completed, music selected, scenery begun, and chorus routines developed in order that everything may be in readiness for tryouts and rehearsals as soon as school opens.

Members of next year's board are: Dean Longfellow, stage director; Mildred Burnham, publicity director; Walter Collison, business manager; Dorothy Schenken, dancing director; Caroline Brasch, costume manager; Frank Westbrook, rehearsal director; Carl Wells and Dan Beattie, associate musical directors. These offices were provided in the plan worked out by Larry Parker and adopted by the Troubadours in 1928. The responsibility for the work of each department rests entirely with the manager of that department, and each manager is directly responsible to the managing director.

Assistants Attend Meetings

To further strengthen the organization, and to provide for the self-perpetuation of the board, a staff of assistants will be added to the production end of the organization. Those assistants will attend all meetings of the board, although they will not have any vote. Thus they will become familiar with the work of the board and of the entire Troubadour organization, and will be trained to move up to the managerships as those students drop out from year to year.

Assistants who have all ready been named are Jean Kelly, secretary; Winfield Weitzel, assistant business manager; Billy Phillips, property manager; George Wells, company manager and assistant to coach. Positions which are as yet unfilled and open for application are assistant musical director, scenery director, and assistant publicity directors. Application should be made immediately either in person or by letter to Dan Beattie, at the Theta Delta Chi House, 1714 Rhode Island Avenue. These positions are to be filled by June 6.

Connell Director

Denis Connell, who has handled the direction of the Troubadour shows so successfully for the past five years, will coach next year's production.

If you are interested in becoming a member of the Troubadours, apply for positions immediately to Dan Beattie.

Review of Year Reveals Five Events of Stellar Importance

1930-31 Highlights Are Accrediting of University, Defeat of Catholic U., 18-13, Purchase of Student Union Property, Death of Dean Hodgkins, and Convocation for Siamese King.

1930-31 is approaching its demise. Next Thursday at 7 the last final exam will be completed and the regular University term will be no more except for the perfunctory duty of recording grades. A hasty survey of the highlights of the last nine months reveals George Washington University winning her share of laurels in all fields, a fairly equable distribution of victories and trophies on the campus, and only one saddening event of magnitude.

The school year was but one month old when the Association of American Universities placed this institution on its approved list, thus putting the arts and sciences division on the same plane with the schools of medicine and law which already had achieved similar positions in their fields. This recognition may be ranked as the greatest advance made by the University in recent years into national prominence and notice.

Less than a month later, on November 21, the Colonial football varsity chalked up the outstanding athletic achievement of the year when it defeated Catholic University, 18-13, for the first time in six years. Traditional rivalries flared anew at this breath-taking contest, and the men in buff and blue gave the Cardinals something to remember them by. There will be no more of these thrilling games, athletic relations between the two universities having been discontinued, but George Washington ended on top and gave promise of still sweeter victories yet to come.

Student Union Purchased

The purchase of property for a Student Union Building, long dreamed of but little expected, provided a welcome surprise early in January. While this surprise was still fresh, the Student Council fostered a drive to furnish the remodeled property. To date a number of thousands of dollars have been collected and their use awaits only the day when a clouded title to a portion of the purchased property is cleared. Hours of comfort and pleasure loom for G. W's thousands of students next year and in years to come when the Student Union Building is opened.

A heavy note of sadness was struck February 13, when Howard Lincoln Hodgkins, dean of the University, died after a prolonged illness. Dean Hodgkins had been associated with George Washington for 48 years as a student and member of the faculty, and at one time served as acting president of the University. Classes in all departments were suspended on the day of his burial.

Another royalty was added to the list of holders of honorary degrees from this institution when Prajadhipok, King of Siam, less than a month ago received the degree of doctor of laws at a special convocation. In so honoring the royal visitor the University accomplished another step in the furtherance of international good will.

Not so outstanding as the events already mentioned yet important in narrower spheres were nine highlights of more local importance.

Reorganized Administration Begins

At the very beginning of the year, in September, the reorganized system

Mrs. Donaldson Becomes Faculty Women Chairman

Organization is a Group Within Columbian Women

Mrs. Frances Donaldson, wife of Professor John Donaldson, acting dean of Columbian College, was elected chairman of the Faculty Women of George Washington University, following a luncheon at the Shoreham Hotel, Thursday.

The organization is one of the groups which have recently been formed within the society of Columbian Women. Its members include women members of the faculty and wives of faculty men. Mrs. Donaldson was one of the founders of this particular group, drawing up the by-laws for its establishment. She was also one of the originators of the idea of the group within a group which has given new life to Columbian Women.

Mrs. Donaldson has been a member of Columbian Women since 1922, and has been affiliated with a number of clubs in New York and elsewhere. She is a member of the women's board of the George Washington University Hospital, and is a member of the National and International University Clubs for Women.

Mrs. Donaldson is a graduate "with distinction" from George Washington University, her major being in the public service group in anticipation of a foreign service career. It is interesting to note that she has recently been pledged by Phi Pi Epsilon, newly organized women's foreign service sorority. Mrs. Donaldson is also chairman of the Bi-centennial Commission of Columbian Women, and is acting in collaboration with President Cloyd H. Marvin for this event.

New Organization Begun By Non-Sorority Women

Hope to Consolidate Interests and Stimulate Activities

To stimulate non-sorority participation in University activities and to consolidate the interests of all socially unaffiliated women on the campus is the purpose of Tri-C, Co-ed Campus Club, which held its first meeting Thursday night, May 21, in L-12.

After the opening address by Helen Swick, who stressed the need for such an organization, Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance, and Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, extended their congratulations to the club and outlined its opportunities to make a valuable contribution to the University.

Miss Ruth Atwell, director of women's athletics, extended an invitation to the club to place one member on the intramural board.

The next meeting of Tri-C will be held early in the fall when plans to welcome new women students to the University will be discussed more fully.

Lost and Found Department Lists Many Valuable Articles

Various Books, Coats, Scarfs, Jewelry, Keys, Hats, Umbrellas, And Gloves Make Up The Weird Collection; Owners Should Call And Make Claims

"If you have lost anything, we ought to have it" is the motto of the University lost and found department. And if you are from Missouri drop around to Room 22 of the Administration Building on the corner of Twenty-first and G Street and ask to be shown.

A visit will be worth your while, if you don't find that umbrella or those glasses you lost it will be because you give up hunting before you get to the bottom of the piles.

The first Hatchet reporter to visit the scene of what would make a perfectly marvellous rummage sale was amazed at the quantity and variety of articles "left behind" by students. But she was "simply astounded" when the first book uncovered was the long lost "Zo" book.

Rummaging among packages was embarrassing at times, and what puzzled the "press" was how certain articles of feminine apparel could get lost in the first place and how they were found in University buildings in the second place. Bed room slippers, men's and women's shoes, women's gym blouses, and silk hose were only part of the janitors' collections.

There were some fifty books in the department's "library" ranging from a brand new copy of "The Babes in the Woods" to a well worn volume of "Evolution, Eugenics and Genetics," and "Polygamy and Citizenship." The clerk reported that there are numerous requests for Professor Moss's famous "Applied Psychology," but evidently the janitors find it quite interesting for no copies have been turned in. If you threw away your textbook in French, Spanish, English, German, analytic geometry, drafting, physics, chemistry, anatomy, astronomy, zoology, botany, calculus or almost any thing else and now find an urgent need for recovering it in time for a little cramming before exams, make your wants known at 2033 G Street.

There are 12 coats in the "wardrobe." Professor Lowell V. Ragatz was able to "identify" a pretty good one the other day we were told, but the best ones are gone now. If you haven't a fall hat yet, there are 16 on display and all you have to do is name a size and color.

At the jewelry counter may be found fountain pens, eye glasses, glass cases, brooches, rings, a fraternity pledge pin, four vanity cases, and key cases, besides numerous miscellaneous and unclassified articles.

In general anything from a slide rule to a silk slip can be found in the department. The moral of this story is: Keep your shoes on but if you can't do that, visit the University Lost and Found Department and relieve the University of the responsibility of guarding them for you.

First Prize In National Humane Poster Contest Won By Janice Holland

Janice Holland, freshman student at George Washington and the Corcoran School of Art, has been awarded first prize in a national humane poster contest conducted by the Latham Foundation, whose headquarters are in Oakland, California. The exact nature of the award was not disclosed.

The winning poster, which depicts a ragged little girl sitting in the window of a house facing the street, hugging a little dog, was highly praised. Edith Latham, president of the foundation, declared that Miss Holland's work received special commendation by the art critics who acted as judges.

Miss Holland graduated from Western High School last year, where she was cartoonist and reporter for the Western Breeze. She had previously won prizes in other contests conducted by magazines, newspapers, the National School of Art, and the Corcoran School of Art.

CHARLES JACKSON IS NEW LEADER OF STUDENT COUNCIL

Entire Meeting Devoted to Election; Vital Issues Tabled Until June 9

Charles Jackson, representative from the Law School, was elected president of the Student Council for the ensuing year at the new council's final meeting on May 19. The other officers are: Elizabeth Rees, Columbian College, first vice president; Mildred Burnham, School of Government, second vice president; Howard Payne, Graduate School, secretary; and Arthur Kriemelmeyer, Junior College, treasurer.

Although this meeting was the last one this year, no progress is reported on the important issues that have been handed over by the old council. The enforcement of the point system, freshman representation on the council, and other matters vital to the student body, before the old council for many weeks, were "tabled" until June 9, when a post-school meeting will be held. The only business transacted throughout the evening was the detailed work of nominating and electing five officers.

A law student, Jackson is well qualified to be at the head of the council. Each of the new officers is well known for his ability to accomplish things, and it is hoped they will form a council that will lead the University organizations in activity and influence next year.

Several meetings are to be held during the summer vacation, so that the council will have an opportunity to complete its organization, and the development of its plans and policies for the 1931-32 school year before the beginning of school next September.

RECEPTION OPENS SENIOR PROGRAM

Social Events Planned For Commencement Week; Class Night, June 9

Final marks for seniors may be obtained in the Registrar's Office, Saturday afternoon, June 6. Graduation fees should be paid promptly, and no later than Wednesday, June 10.

The commencement exercises June 10, will culminate a week of festivities which begin Saturday, June 6, with a reception and dance in honor of the members of the graduating classes given at the Willard Hotel, under the joint auspices of the General Alumni Association, the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association, and The George Washington University Medical Society.

Sunday afternoon at 3, at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Dr. Albert Charles Dieffenbach, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Music for the services will be arranged by Paul Fishback, organist and musical director of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. Graduates will meet at the Medical School, 1335 H Street, where they will receive their caps and gowns, which they will keep until after the commencement exercises.

President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin will entertain in honor of the members of the graduating classes and their parents on Monday afternoon at the Washington Club, 1701 K Street, from 4 until 7 o'clock.

Class night exercises will be held Tuesday at 8 P. M. in Corcoran Hall. The graduates will assemble in caps and gowns at 7:30 in the gymnasium and will proceed to Corcoran Hall across the quadrangle in academic procession. The program for class night will include the valedictory and salutatory addresses, the class history, the awarding of prizes, musical selections by the Men's Glee Club, and dancing after the exercises. Marjorie Keim is the class historian; the valedictorian and salutatorian have not been announced yet.

Arrangements for class night are in the hands of Harryman Dorsey, class night chairman; Richard Mattingly, program chairman; Richard Radue, in charge of decorations; and Stanley Fraser, chairman of refreshments. Officers of the senior class are assisting the class night committees.

Commencement invitations are now ready for distribution to seniors and may be secured at the Registrar's Office. Each senior is entitled to 15 invitations and five tickets. Extra invitations may be obtained at the Comptroller's Office.

TO THE GRADUATES

Examinations loom ominously ahead for all of us, but some may look beyond and to a goal which they have had in view since their matriculation. With the commencement exercises on June 10, this group will have left this field of education, for better or for worse, to meet what life may have to offer them. The more thoughtful graduate will speculate on the value of some of the best years of his life spent here, and perhaps wonder why he did not concentrate more energy upon certain things, or, why he did concentrate his entire energy upon one certain thing. It is only now, when it is too late, that he will impartially survey the course he has followed. One thing every graduate ought by this time to have learned, and that is how he is to apply what knowledge he has acquired, the true value of the knowledge, and its place in the years to follow.

A CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK??

Six major problems faced the council which has just departed from office after a year which was far from successful: (1) The Point System; (2) The Student Union Building Fund; (3) The University Calendar; (4) Student Council elections; (5) Adequate reflection of the opinion of the electorate; (6) Publicity.

THE NEW COUNCIL MUST FACE AND UNDERTAKE EVERY ONE OF THESE PROBLEMS, AND IT MUST DO SO AT ONCE IF IT WANTS UNDERGRADUATE CONFIDENCE NEXT SEPTEMBER.

Let us consider what it has before it:

Early in March the council announced that a special committee was checking the number of activity points being acquired by students. What a farce! Early this month it certified to the new council no less than four students who thereby exceeded the limit of 15 points established in January, and it made no visible effort to have these representatives drop minor activities. Conclusions are evident. The old council broke its own rules, and the new council members showed no compunction in permitting such action. There are two alternatives now open to the new council: Repeal of the Point System, which will be evading the issue unless the student body can be satisfied that its representatives are unselfish, or strong support of the system and adoption of adequate regulations to govern it.

THE HATCHET RECOMMENDS THIS LATTER ALTERNATIVE. At the same time it insists that the council clarify the inconsistencies that are evident in the distribution of points as printed in The Hatchet of January 14. It must decide for how long a period points will be credited for positions held only a part of the year. It must consider the senior athletic managership, the editorship of the Handbook, secretaries of clubs, social and professional fraternities, and it must clear up the distinction which the old council has made between honorary organizations and honorary fraternities. We fear that selfishness has been permitted to run rampant.

IF IT IS TO MAKE A SUCCESS OF THE STUDENT UNION BUILDING FUND THE NEW COUNCIL MUST DEPART FROM THE WAYS OF CLOSE-MOUTHEDNESS WHICH CHARACTERIZED THE OLD COUNCIL. Where money is concerned, the students want facts, not promises. Thousands of dollars have been collected by the University from students for the fund, but the old council found itself too busy to ascertain the exact figures for its publicity department and then decided that next fall would be a logical time to reveal the sum collected. We must warn the new council that its electorate wants to know where its money is, what is being done with it, and whether in these hard times it is earning interest in a safe manner or is merely lying idle in the University lock box.

The Student Council's attempt to administer the University Calendar was admittedly an abject failure. Where much had been promised in November, even the council admitted in December that it had created chaos out of order. Since then the matter has dragged. Lack of time on the part of the council member in charge has been an alleged reason. The full import of such an admission is astounding. THE UNIVERSITY NEEDS A WELL REGULATED CALENDAR FOR ITS MAJOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS. If the new council expects to retain any respect it must see that its regulations anent this matter are enforced.

Perhaps the greatest farce of the year was the manner of administration of the Student Council elections four weeks ago. Unless the council takes immediate action and adopts IRONCLAD election rules this will be repeated next fall and next January when certain council positions will be vacated. We are not going to presume to offer minute suggestions, but we would suggest that freshmen and sophomores, despite their numerical superiority, cannot be presumed to have as wide knowledge of University affairs as upper classmen and that NIGHT STUDENTS ARE ENTITLED TO MORE REPRESENTATION ON THE COUNCIL.

On election day, candidates resort to innumerable devices to procure votes. Do they later remember who were responsible for their election? Do they consult this electorate when important problems must be faced? Very seldom. The Student Council must not believe itself infallible and not responsible to anyone because its members are seldom candidates for re-election. THE COUNCIL'S DUTY IS TO REFLECT THE OPINIONS OF ITS ELECTORATE!

The editors of The Hatchet know well the value of publicity. They therefore urgently commend to the Student Council the advantages of A PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT WHICH WILL AT ALL TIMES APPRISE THE STUDENTS OF WHAT IS TAKING PLACE. There are bulletin boards all over the campus. How often in the past year have they held council notices and announcements? But we will condone the past if the future is well cared for.

This has been a hasty survey of six major problems. Upon their accomplishment depends the future of the Student Council at George Washington University. Upon them depends the preservation and renascence of "campus student life." BUT ABOVE ALL IS THE QUESTION: HAS THE STUDENT COUNCIL THIS INTEREST AT HEART?

News of Clubs

Modern Poetry Club

Eire Mooney was awarded a prize of ten dollars, Wednesday, as winner of the University Poetry Contest sponsored by the Modern Poetry Club. The presentation was made by Dean George Neely Henning, preceding a regular meeting of the club, and a reading of the poem followed.

Monta Ruediger was elected president for the coming year at the business meeting. Other officers chosen are: Betty Jacobs, vice president; Elizabeth Rees, secretary-treasurer; and Ruth White, publicity chairman.

Scriblerus Club

"Scriblerus Club," latest campus literary organization, has been formed to promote interest in literary criticism and creative writing. Membership is limited to ten; elections will be held at the first meeting in the fall, new members to be chosen by the active and alumni membership.

Edith McCoy is president of the organization and Fletcher Henderson acting secretary. Other charter members are Dorothy Albert, Ruth Griggs, Frank Westbrook, Eleanor Spencer, Irma White, Althea Lawton, and Ruth DeVane.

The University and The Hatchet extend their sympathies to Professor Truman Michelson, executive officer of the Department of Anthropology in the University, on the recent death of his father, Professor Albert A. Michelson, world famous scientist.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon

Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geologic fraternity, initiated six men at a banquet at the Olmsted Grill last Thursday. The men initiated were: Erwin Stumm, Stearns MacNeil, Robert Ridgeway, Harold Byers, Paul Bunten, and S. D. Grove.

El Club Espanol

Election of officers was the main business of El Club Espanol at the last meeting, May 21. Officers for the ensuing year are: Raymond Mealy, president; Kathryn Everett, vice president; Elizabeth Hutchison, secretary; Harold Levy, treasurer; and Sylvia Werksman, sergeant-at-arms.

Episcopal Club

The Episcopal Club is planning to hold its annual picnic in Rock Creek Park, Saturday, June 6. The party will start for the park after office hours. After a sandwich supper, the picnickers may journey to Chevy Chase Lake to dance.

All who are interested are asked to telephone Elizabeth Fielden, Columbia 4682-W, any day after 6 o'clock, so that the committee in charge may know on how many to count.

Les Jongleurs

Les Jongleurs will conclude the season with a beach party in the near future, according to Dan Beattie, acting president of the club. Jerome Cobb and Winfield Weitzel were recently elected to membership.

Student Notices

Painting Exhibition

The exhibition of paintings of the Southwest by Mrs. A. Y. Smith, of Arizona, which has been held during the past week in Corcoran Hall, will continue on view through Saturday, May 30.

Phi Delta Gamma

Phi Delta Gamma has issued invitations to all students of the Graduate School and other students who are receiving the degrees of doctor of philosophy or master of arts for a tea to be held from 4 until 7 o'clock, June 7, in the sorority rooms at 2024 G Street, following the Baccalaureate Sermon.

All persons who will be able to attend are asked to notify Miss Nina Booth at the University as soon as possible and not later than June 3.

FEEL the difference
HEAR the difference

TASTE THE DIFFERENCE!

Like an oasis in the dusty desert of dried tobacco, the new Camel Humidor Pack brings you the delight of fine quality cigarettes in factory-fresh, mild condition.

Now, wherever you go, you can always be sure of getting a fresh, throat-easy cigarette when you demand Camels.

It's easy to tell the difference. Your sense of touch detects it as you roll a cigarette between your fingers. Dry tobacco is stiff and crumbly. Camels are full bodied and pliant.

Even your ear can tell the difference. For a dried-out cigarette crackles when you roll it.

But the real test is taste and taste is causing a great nation-wide switch of men and women alike to Camels in the scientific new Humidor Pack. As you draw in that fragrant, mild, cool smoke, redolent with the joy of choicest Turkish and mellow Domestic tobacco, only then do you realize the full importance of this new Humidor Pack.

For scorched or dried tobacco is brash and tasteless and its smoke is unkindly hot to the tongue and throat.

If you are already a Camel smoker you have noticed the improvement in this your favorite cigarette.

If you don't smoke Camels, try them for just one day to see how much you're missing. After you've known the mildness and delight of a really fresh cigarette, switch back if you can.

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office

Baseball And Tennis Titles Go To Phi Sigma Kappa

ACACIA'S ERRORS DECIDING FACTOR IN CHAMPIONSHIP

Quarles' Pitching Subdues Famed Acacia Sluggers Who Make Nine Errors, Losing, 8-2

BY BILL DISMER

The interfraternity baseball championship was kicked and thrown into the lap of Phi Sigma Kappa Sunday morning, when an erring bunch of Acacia ball tossers committed no less than nine miscues in allowing a G. W. Greek title to be awarded with as little work by the winner as has been seen in many a day. The Phi Sigs earned exactly two of their eight runs which enabled them to down the Massachusetts Avenue gang, 8-2, all of the six-run winning margin being amassed directly through the nine Acacia errors.

In marked contrast to this grammar school field exhibition of the Acacias was the sparkling work afield by the new champs, who pulled off many a brilliant play while making nary an error. Add to this the stellar mound work of their pitcher, Henry Quarles, who struck out ten Acacians and always seemed to have something in reserve whenever the enemy threatened, and you have the reason for the Phi Sig's victory.

It was only just that the Phi Sigs should win the 1931 diamond title. For the past three years they have been in the semifinal or final game of the season and each time suffered defeat by a woefully close margin, which cost them the championship. The present season saw them climax this long uphill fight for a title which apparently never seemed destined for them. Winning five consecutive games in League B before meeting Acacia last Sunday, the Phi Sigs ended the season in a fitting manner, winning their sixth game in as many starts.

Brown Shares Honors

Sharing the honor with Pitcher Quarles was the Phi Sigs' captain, Jim Brown, who was the leading hitter of the day with a double and a triple to his credit, while scoring two runs. Three times during the game did Brown start rallies which were to materialize in runs for his team, himself being the first to cross the plate in the opening inning.

A forerunner of what was to take place throughout the entire game occurred at this time when Brown got on base and scored the first run without the aid of a hit. With one out, the winning captain was safe when Spengler messed up his easy roller at third. After stealing second, Brown came all the way home when "Otts" Kriemelmeyer, out in right, did the "butter-fingers" act to perfection on Zahn's easy pop fly. Result—one run, no hits, two errors.

Phi Sig's biggest assault came in the third frame when they scored four times to pack the verdict away. But were they solely responsible for the quartet of runs that flocked across the plate? They were not! During this orgy, Acacia's rooters were sadly disillusioned by seeing their favorites make three errors and their pitcher, Clapper, walk two batters. Only twice did the Phi Sigs hit safely during this frame, but why should they bother when given such handy assistance?

DELTA TAU DELTA RACQUETERS FAIL TO TAKE A MATCH

Losers Had Previously Eliminated Three Teams In Gaining Final Round

By JACK VIVIAN

Phi Sigma Kappa netmen pointed the way to the Delt racquet artists last Sunday afternoon by sweeping three straight matches and clinching the interfraternity tennis title for the year 1931. Regardless of the one-sided score the match was the most closely contested in the whole series, as all sets went overtime.

The series, which was divided into two leagues, has been running for the past month. Delta Tau Delta won the right to participate in the finals by eliminating the T. U. O.s, Theta Delts, and Sig Alphs. The Phi Sigs had previously eliminated the Sigma Nus and Kappa Sigs and drawing a bye in the third round, thereby getting the edge.

DeWitt Bennett, who plays number one for the Phi Sigs, found a tough opponent in George Sullivan, the Delt ace. Starting with the same form that had carried him to victory in previous matches he clinched the first set 6—4. In the second, however, Sullivan began placing his drives, and Bennett had to carry the set 18 games before he finally emerged victorious, 10—8.

Kendrick-Woodward Close

The match between Caldwell Kendrick, of Phi Sig, and Harry Woodward proved to be the most see-saw one of the three. Kendrick, who is about twice Woodward's size took the the first set with apparent ease to the tune of 6—2, but in the second the Delt number two man showed fine form by sweeping the match, 6—0. The third set was a nip and tuck affair until Kendrick decisively showed he was the better man by winning, 6—4.

The third match, between Bill Hoover and Beryl Hix, was a listless affair compared to the other two. Both these boys reverted to ping pong for the amusement of the spectators. Hoover finally emerged on the long end of a 7—5, 8—6 score.

Match scores: Caldwell Kendrick defeated Everett Woodward, 6—2, 0—6, 6—4; Dewitt Bennett defeated George Sullivan, 6—4, 10—8; Bill Hoover defeated Beryl Hix, 7—5, 8—6.

BETSY LUCE WINS RIDING SHOW CUP

Mary Sproul and Frances Cox Are Runners-Up; Success Owed To Whitaker

With a fine performance in the jumps, Betsy Luce clinched her title to the White Horse Trophy as high point winner in the G. W. Riding Show, held last Friday at the Rock Creek show grounds. Betsy Luce is a night student. She was graduated from Western high school in 1928.

Mary Sproul took second place with 13 points, two less than the winner; third place went to Frances Cox, who made nine points. That the competition was close is shown by the fact that points were scored by fourteen of the twenty-two entrants.

Much of the success of the show was due to Jerry Whitaker, managing chairman, who was active in arousing general interest in the competition, the first of its kind held at G. W. The riding show will be an annual event of the sports program sponsored by the Intramural Board.

The silver cup for the high point winner was given by the Columbian Women, at the suggestion of Miss Elizabeth Cullen, past president. It is in honor of the horse driven by Dr. Luther Rice at the time when he was engaged in collecting funds for the founding of this University.

REVIEW OF YEAR REVEALS FIVE IMPORTANT EVENTS

of educational administration of the University went into effect. The Junior College was established, Columbian College reorganized, study divisions created, an Individual Study Plan adopted, a Council for Graduate Study organized. These changes have proved their worth and promise more when they are fully developed.

A message of good will from Mussolini was the feature of the fall convocation, held October 15. This message was read by Ambassador de Martino of Italy.

"Point System" was heard again on the G. W. campus after a lapse of some years when the Student Council adopted it early in January for use in the distribution of extra-curricular offices and activities next year. The system promises a more equal division of prominent posts among the student body, but its effectiveness cannot be gauged until it has been put into practice.

Wickersham Speaks

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission, was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Law School, February 7. Mr. Wickersham's address, coming so soon after the report of his commission had been made public, was of more than passing interest. He confined his remarks to the World Court, however, entirely omitting prohibition.

On February 10 Maude Hudson was elected president of the Student Council to fill the vacancy created when Jo Howard was declared ineligible to retain his position on the council. Miss Hudson had been acting as president for some weeks and maintained that position until early in May.

The National Intercollegiate Rifle Championship was won early in March by William C. Barr, a student in the School of Medicine. Barr's score of 576 out of a possible 600 is one of the best on the records of the National Rifle Association which sponsored the match.

Glee Club Shines

A few days later, on March 14, the Men's Glee Club maintained the brilliant pace it set last year winning the Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest when it took third place among eleven clubs in the 1931 Intercollegiate Contest.

Student Council elections on April 30 and May 1 brought out a large number of voters, but the election atmosphere was otherwise tinged with apathy and distrust at the haphazard manner in which nominations and eligibilities had been handled by the outgoing council. There was a close contest for only one post among 15.

As the year drew to a close the much-postponed Athletic Banquet finally took place to the satisfaction of even the most critical. Major John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten Conference, defended college sports against recent accusations of over emphasis. Seventy-eight George Washington University athletes were recognized for their activities in fields of sport.

Intercollegiate athletic competition showed G. W. on the long end in basketball and on the fence in football. In the former sport the Colonials amassed the fine record of 11 wins and five losses; in the latter the commendable total of four wins, four losses, and one tie. The rifle team took second place in the Middle States Intercollegiate Rifle Association, and the tennis team showed its strength in downing the N. Y. U. team, eight matches to one.

Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Nu outstripped the field in Interfraternity contests, the former winning bowling, baseball and tennis, while the latter carried off victories in basketball and track. It was a sad year for the remaining nine fraternities in the council, and will become even more sad when cups are awarded at the next prom.

INTRAMURAL NET CHAMPIONSHIP IS IN FINAL ROUNDS

Stanton - Youlofsky and Ruth-Robinson Matches To Decide Finalists

When the athletic department issued orders that all matches in the intramural tennis tournament except finals had to be played by May 16, it produced action. Both singles and doubles have reached the semi-finals and winners of both should be announced by the time of exams.

Cruz and A. Stanton have both advanced in the fifth round because there was no opponent available. In the other match played in this round, Gerber defeated Mintz in an overtime battle 8—10, 6—2, 6—3. Gerber then met A. Stanton in the quarter-finals and was defeated 6—4, 6—2. In the other quarter-final matches Youlofsky defeated Kendrick 6—4, 6—1. Ruth had little trouble in disposing of Cruz, 6—1, 6—1; and Robinson defeated Banes, 6—2, 6—0.

Results of the quarter-finals bring about some interesting matches in the semi-finals. Stanton is to play Youlofsky and Ruth meets Robinson. At present Ruth and Youlofsky rule heavy favorites and if these two win, a real finals battle should take place. However, both Stanton and Robinson have shown excellent tennis at times and either one may be the dark horse.

In the doubles matches, Jeffrey and Youlofsky reached the semi-finals by defeating Terry and Tenny, 6—3, 6—1, Terry and Tenny having conquered Jones and Sullivan in their previous match, 6—4, 6—4. Bubar and Forsythe claimed a default over Gerber and Epstein and will play the winner of the match featuring Ruth and Glover against the Stantons.

Richard A. Hill Elected President Of Glee Club

Annual elections of the Men's Glee Club, held at its last meeting on May 21, resulted in the unanimous election of Richard A. Hill to head the organization for the coming year.

Hill's reelection to the presidency came in recognition of his tireless efforts on behalf of the club during the past season. He has been in personal charge of the club's arrangements for its numerous activities, including the Middle Atlantic Glee Club contest, the Inter-collegiate Glee Club contest held in New York, the recent engagement at the Fox Theater, and the annual spring concert and dance. Much of the club's success has been attributed to his work.

Other officers elected at the meeting are: George Y. Jarvis, manager; Samuel B. Detwiler, Jr., secretary; and Robert Cushman, treasurer.

Dramatic Recognition Is Aim Of New Fraternity

A definite step in the recognition of dramatic achievement at George Washington University is the aim of a new honorary dramatic fraternity, Alpha Eta Epsilon, recently organized by prominent University dramatic stars.

The officers elected are: Dan Beattie, president; Mildred Burnham, vice president; Winfield Weitzel, treasurer; and George Wells, secretary.

She: "Will you ever stop loving me?"

He: "Well, I have an eight o'clock class."

Beginners In Rifle Declared Varsity Material By Coach

Women of the University who have been in the beginner's class in rifle during the year were declared this week to have passed from this class into excellent varsity prospects by Helen Taylor, coach of the women's rifle team.

Some of the best scores made during this period of special coaching were as follows: Virginia Dillman, 97, 98, 99; Inez Ingham, 97, 98; Leah MacArthur, 92, 94, 98; Naomi Myers, 97, 98, 100; Ruth Schmidt, 95, 96, 97; and Ruth White, 95, 97, 97.

These women began their shooting at G. W. last fall and have shown unusual progress. Their future success with the rifle will depend entirely upon practice, according to Miss Taylor.

The Luther Club

Lutheran students of the University organized as the Luther Club last Tuesday at Grace Church. Ralph H. Keister was elected president; John Nordberg, vice president; Ruth Schmidt, recording secretary; Ann Burger, corresponding secretary, and Joe Gall, treasurer.

Gamma Eta Zeta Elects Officers After Banquet

Officers of Gamma Eta Zeta, women's honorary journalistic fraternity, for 1931-32, who were elected after the initiation ceremonies and banquet of the sorority are: Cecile Harrington, president; Edith Norris, vice president; Mildred Burnham, secretary; and Mary Weaver, treasurer.

The initiates were Mary Weaver, Mary Sproul, Lorene Nelson, Eire Mooney, Edith McCoy, Mary Hudson, Cecile Harrington, Ruth Griggs, Jean Fugitt, and Mildred Burnham.

Court Misunderstanding Costly To Tennis Team

Rain and Losses Bring Season to Unsuccessful Close

An unsatisfactory year of varsity tennis came to an unsatisfactory close Friday, when George Washington was forced to concede Temple University a 4-2 victory in an incomplete match. The Colonials' record this season shows a record of four losses against three victories, with five matches rained out. It is the poorest standing the varsity tennis squad has had in the last four years.

The match with Temple started off rather well for the locals when Bob Considine outclassed McMullin, 6-0, 6-4. But with the exception of Laurence Sherfy's 7-5, 6-4 decision over Sharp, the remaining singles matches went to Temple.

G. W. was favored to win the doubles matches, but they were never played. Time limits on the concrete courts at the Monument Grounds forced their abandonment with the G. W. men leading in the two sets that had started. Considine and Staubly were leading Perchonock and Cohen, 6-4, and the Sherfy brothers had taken a 7-5 set from Badderack and Freedman.

The match was supposed to be played at Congressional, but a few minutes before it was scheduled to begin, notice was received that the courts were not in condition. Since it is up to the hosts to supply the courts, the Temple outfit would have automatically won the match by forfeit, even though it had not taken the singles.

Singles; Considine (G. W.), defeated McMullin, 6-0, 6-4; Perchonock (T.), defeated Staubly, 7-5, 6-2; Cohen (T.), defeated Goldsmith, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Freedman (T.), defeated R. Sherfy, 6-8, 6-3, 7-5; L. Sherfy (G. W.), defeated Sharp, 7-5, 6-4; Badderack (T.), defeated Lee, 6-0, 6-1.

FIRST SEMESTER HONOR ROLL LISTS 392 "B" STUDENTS

Represents Five Schools For The Semester 1930-31; Junior College Leads

Three hundred and ninety-two students, two-thirds of whom were women, earned places on the honor rolls of five of the schools of the University for the first semester of 1930-31.

The Junior College was first among those schools which reported, with a total of 163 students having an average of "B" or better. Columbian College was second with 105, and the School of Education a close third with 81. Bringing up the rear were the Division of Library Science with 29 and the School of Government with 14. The schools of Medicine, Law, Pharmacy, Fine Arts and the Graduate School made no report.

The Division of Library Science, however, had by far the largest percentage of its total students on the honor roll, 27 per cent being so honored. Other schools were represented as follows: Government, 18 per cent; Education, 11 per cent; Columbian, 10 per cent, and Junior, 8 uer cent.

League Hears Bemis' Report

The League of Nations on May 1 considered a memorandum submitted by Professor Samuel Flagg Bemis, of the history department, on the accessibility of archives.

SOCIETY

This has been the slowest week of the social season, but the first week in June bids fair to be the busiest. Indian Springs Country Club will be the rendezvous for many of the farewell formals . . . farewell, until we meet again!

Phi Sigma Kappa will close its social season with a banquet and dance on June 6, and picnic at George Von Dachenhausen's farm on June 7. The banquet is an annual affair in honor of the graduating brothers. The list of invited guests includes Acting Dean Donaldson and Mrs. Donaldson, Prof. and Mrs. Elmer Louis Kayser, and Prof. Allen Deibert as well as many of the chapter's alumni. After the banquet the party will adjourn to Indian Springs where McWilliams' Orchestra will play for dancing.

Kappa Alpha is planning its final dance for June 11. Indian Springs, which seems to have been the most popular club with our fraternity men during the present season, will provide the setting for this farewell dance.

Home Ec Will Give Tea, June 4

The Home Economics Department with Miss Frances Kirkpatrick as hostess, will give a tea June 4, in honor of the mothers of the members of that department who are graduating. Miss Kirkpatrick and Miss Kathryn Towne also entertained the seniors at a picnic breakfast in Rock Creek Park last Sunday morning.

Breakfast parties are getting just too popular! Kappa Kappa Gamma also entertained its graduating members at breakfast at the Toll Gate Tavern Sunday morning.

Many showers are the result of the announcement of the date for the wedding of Myrtle Crouch, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Floyd Ormsby, Sigma Nu, on June 3. Winnie Beall and Edith Norris entertained at a personal shower for the bride-elect on May 16, at the home of Mrs. John Stuart. Hermione John entertained at a bridge shower for her May 23.

Chi Omega Farewell Dance Next Week

Chi Omega will hold its farewell-to-seniors dance at Indian Springs June 4. Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Dance is also scheduled for that night. It looks like the social chairmen failed to get together this year.

Sigma Chi will give its last dance at Congressional Country Club, June 12. Sunday, May 24 was the date of Sigma Chi's annual picnic, which was held at Great Falls. Good food, a perfect day, and a congenial crowd all went toward making the picnic a success.

The Friars had Dean Wilbur as its guest of honor at their annual banquet at the Congressional Country Club, Wednesday, May 20.

Alpha Delta Pi will spend a busy post-exam period. Starting June 4, the A. D. P's will spend the day at Evelyn Kerr's cottage on the bay, and attend the wedding of Mary Cecilia Horn to Ensign Douglas Gordon Wright, Jr., and reception at Carvel Hall Hotel in Annapolis in the afternoon. June 5, the members of A. D. Pi will entertain the alumnae chapter with a garden party and supper at the home of Kay Watkins. The alumnae chapter will reciprocate with its annual party for the actives which will be a bridge-luncheon at the Hotel Roosevelt on June 6. That evening the wedding of Louise Cocke to Paul Vincent Mook, will take place. As a farewell to the seniors, the active chapter will hold a picnic and informal dance at Doily Tschiffely's summer home, June 8. The entire chapter will be guests at Ruth Grigg's farm in Southern Maryland, the weekend of June 13.

DURING these last hectic days, some of us are badly in need of a good dollar-stretcher. What with "farewell" parties and "home-coming" parties, a rigorous economy must be practiced someplace in between. You can save a sizeable sum by going home the Greyhound way. Best of all you'll have more fun.
